Oh, chestnut curl, so bright and warm!
You waved ab ye a brow
Undimmed by care, unscathed by storm—
Methinks I see it now.
And yet the gold threads glancing through
Your fold so glossy fair,
I know should be of sable hue
To match the stain they bear.

Oh, letter with the seal of red t You have some witching lore, Sweet as was ever sung or said In fairy days of yore. Oh, letter with the seal of black i. Your spell has thawed my brain; The pent-up tears come gusbing back Like heavy, blinding rain.

And now in either hand I hold
These relies of the past,
Yearning for once warm tips now cold,
And joys that might not last,
I read the false sweet legend on
The liling seal of red;
Then strike my heat, as strikes a stone,
These three words—"He is dead!"

THE GALLOWS.

An Execution that Didn't Take Place-Respite In the very Nick of Time-Curious Scene at the Gallows, &c.

Last Friday three negroes were to be hung at Halifax, N. C., for murder. One of them, George Bayline, it had been previously determined to respite for 25 days. What occurred as to the other two is related as follows, by a correspondent of the Petersburg Express :

correspondent of the Petersburg Express:

I arrived at Halifax at 25 minutes past 12 o'clock. Found an enclosure on the front portion of the jail, 15 feet high, that would admit of about 60 or 70 persons standing inside. There were two or three hundred persons outside, mostly colored. After little delay I obtained admittance to the enclosure, and found 30 or 40 men of both colors inside, among whom was a deputy sheriff, anxiously inquiring for the sheriff. The prisoners were condemned to be hanged between the hours of 12 and 1 o'clock. At about twenty minutes to 1 by my watch, the sheriff entered the enclosure, with a telegram in his hand, somewhat excited. He hurriedly mounted the scaffold, and commenced preparing the two ropes around the beam. The sheriff soon asked the time. Was told by one bystander 15 minutes to 1 o'clock, by another 7½ minutes, and by a lawyer pressnt that it lacked 20 minutes to 1 o'clock. In a few moments the sheriff had the orimicals brought out of jail. They took their stands immediately under the ropes attached to the beam.

At this moment the lawyer who said the sheriff had 20 minutes time, addressed him.

At this moment the lawyer who said the sheriff had 20 minutes time, addressed himself to the sheriff and said that the time for hanging the oriminals had expired, and celled upon those present to witness that he warned the sheriff that if he hung them he would do so at his own peril, and outside of law and institute.

the sheriff that if he hung them he would do so at his own peril, and outside of law and justice.

I suppose some six or seven moments had elapsed since he had said that the sheriff had 20 minutes. Very harsh words were passed between the steriff and said lawyer. At this moment the sheriff intimated by his remarks that an effort was being made to prevent him from come his duty. Great excitement occurred at this time.

The sheriff them adjusted the ropes around the necks of the criminals, and placed the white caps over their heads and faces. He then stated that by his watch it lacked 9 minutes of 1 o'clock; that he had received from the Governor's secretary in Raleigh a telegram of respite; that he had telegraphed the secretary that he could not recognize this as official, and would be obliged to mang the criminals; that the secretary than telegraphed him to wait until the last moment, as be would telegraph Governor Rolden, in Baltimore. He then remarked that he would wait until two minutes to 1 o'clock, at which time, unless he was in receipt of a telegram from Governor Holden, he should launch the prisoners into 6trantity. More words were then passed between the sheriff and the lawyer before mentioned, and considerable excitement was shown by persons present. Another lawyer present went up to the scaffed and addressed the sheriff, but was told by him in very strong language not to speak to him. At this moment a great commondon and considerable excitement was shown by persons present. Another lawyer present went up to the scaffed and addressed the hearth of the series of the sheriff. The sheriff with his legal advisor, retired to one corner of the enclosure and read the telegram, and considerative strong the hearth of the presence of the sendence and read the telegram, and considerable excitement here was indscribable. A man ruled by the guard and into the grate with a fell-gram which he handed the sheriff. The sheriff with his legal advisor, retired to one corner of the enclosure and read the telegram, and con tion, every one became perfectly quiet, and the stillness of death prevailed, the condemned men standing perfectly still on the scaffold, with the ropes and caps adjusted as before described

The sheriff then came for vard and said he

The sheriff then came for rard and said he had received a telegram from Governor Holden respiting the condemned until the 4th of June. It would be useless to attempt to describe the scene of excited confusion that took place upon this announcement.

A shot was fired into the enclosure, and the report was a pretty loud one, adding, if possible, to the excitement and confusion. The shot proved to be trom a pistol in the hands of a colored man by the name of Hayes, one of the representatives from this country, who, for some unaccountable reason, came into the enclosure with a cocked pistol in his hand. For a wonder, in such a crowd, the shot did no damage.

Baker now spoke for the first time since ascending the scaffold, and complained that the rope was choking him, and said please take it off.

A voice from the crowd said, "Come down from there, Gus Baker."

Baker seeming to recognize the voice, the cap still being over his face, exclaimed in a tone stifled with emotion, "Oh my! Dudley,"

Thomas did not utter a word while on the soaffold that I heard. The sheriff now removed the rones and caps from the prisoners. moved the ropes and caps from the prisoners and had them returned to jail.

The sheriff them mide a short speech to the excited crowd, saying in it that the criminals would be hung as certain as next Friday comes.

THE ROYAL DAIRY IN ENGLAND.

"Burleigh" writes to the Boston Journal an account of his visit to Prince Albert's model farm at Frogmone:

farm at Frogmore:

Frogmore is within the Royal Park at Windsor. The pslace is a plain country residence, with nothing to distinguish it from a thousand others in Eogland. The sight is superb and the surroundings interesting. Not far from the mansion is the mausoleum of the Prince Consort—a tell, square, brick tower with pointed root. No one is allowed to visit the tomb except on the auniversary of the Prince's death. Then the radespeople of Windsor are allowed to visit the shrine. The common people loved the Prince very much and they had reason to, for he was a kind master. In portion of the royal grounds Prince Albert faid out his model farm. He erected superb buildings and introduced all modern improvements, tried all modern experiments, and gave the country the benefit of his experience. When the sharp eye and vigilant hand of the Prince lay cold in death the beauty of the farm began to decline. I was there on Thursday, and the stillness of Pompei reigns over the place. The exquisitely arranged quadringular buildings were deserted. One side, where the fifty-one dairy cows are kept, was in orime order. The rest showed neglect. A few pigs sporting in a pen exhibited all the life to be seen on the farm.

The royal dairy alone remains in active use.

The churn used at Frogmore is a metallic one, in shape like a barrel, and rotary. Pans, pails and caus all bore the royal monegram—'V. R." The dairy is called the modern dairy. But no one without a royal revenue could afford such an arrangement. Conspicuous in the room in gold letters is the aunouncement that that dairy was constructed by Prince Albert "in the twenty-first year of her Majesty's reign,"

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA,

THE REPUTATION this sceelent medicine enjoys, is derived from its cures, many of which are truly marvellous. Inveterate cases of Scrotiulous disease, where the dystem seemed saturated with corruption, have been radically cured in such great numbers in almost every section of the country, that the public scarcely need to be informed of its virtues on use.

Scrotulous pison is due of the most destructive enemies of our race: Often this unseen and unfell tenant of the organism materiaines the constitution, and invites the attack of encething or fatal disease, without exciting a mapicion of its pressure. Again, it seems to breed infection through the budgi and then, on some favorable constant racidis develops into one or other sites histoms torms, either on the surface or among the vibits. In the latter, inberulish may be suddenly diseased in the lungs or heart or tumors formed in this liver; or it shows its presence by graphous on the sam, or foul ulcerations on some part of the body. Hence the occasional use of its samples with the following complaints generally fluid amore distered with the following complaints and the various under our distered with the following complaints and the Heart Di ease, Fits, Epilepiy, Neuraigia, and the various ulcerous affections of the muscular and nervous exstems.

Syphilis or Venerical and Mercurial Diseases are cured by it, though a long time is required for subduring these obstinate maladies by any medicine, But long continued use of this medicine will cure the complaint. Leucorhosa or Whites, Uterine Ulcerations and Female diseases, are commonly soon relieved and ultimately cured by its purifying and invigorating effect. Minute Directions for each case are found in our Almanac, supplied gratie. Rheumatism and Gout, when caused by accumulations of extraneous matters in the blood, yield quickly to it, as also Liver Complaints, Torpidity, Congestion of infiammation of the Liver and Jaun dee, when arising, as they often do, from the rankling poisons in the blood. This SARSPARILLA is a great restorer for the strength and vigor of the system. These who are Languid and Listles, Despondent, Sleepless and trubled with Nervous Apprehensions or Fears, or ally of the affections symptomatic of, Weakness, will find immediate relief and convincing evidence of its restorative power upon trial.

Prof. Darny. Dear Sir—liaving not been engaged for many years in the active duties of the Medical profession. I am only superficially acquainteed with the claims of your Prophylicitic Find, but am well acquainted with its chemical elements.

While, therefore, I cannot speak experimentally of the value of the compound, yet the disunfecting and therapeutic properties of the agents employed in its composition, together with the well known reputation of its discoverer, as a chemist, authorize me to regard its merite as of a high order; on the whole it must be considered as a valuable contribution to the class of articles to which it belongs.

These views, I may add, are sustained by the testimony of many competent judges, who have tested its properties.
